Woodland owners in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York are about to have a new tool to help them learn about their woods. AboutMyWoods is a new app for mobile phones and tablets (both Apple and Android) that puts a wealth of information at your fingertips.

One of the unique features of the app is the ability of a landowner to pinpoint a spot on the map – either where they are located or any other spot in the region – and access maps and information specific to that location.

Developed to help forest landowners learn more about their land and connect to professionals who can help them, AboutMyWoods is a great way to connect with the information that landowners need.

Maps include soils, land cover type, watershed and satellite view, providing users with instant and mobile access to information specific to individual parcels and locations. With complete coverage in the four state region, landowners can access maps specific to their interests.

In addition to maps, the AboutMyWoods app helps find local professionals – including state forestry educators, landowner organizations, Tree Farm committees, and land trusts active in the region.

Users will also be able to use the app to identify common wildlife, trees, wildflowers, and invasive plants and insects. High-quality photos, coupled with in-depth descriptions, provide the user with an indispensable tool for understanding their woods.

About

The North East State Foresters Association (NEFA) is the state foresters of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, and New York working in cooperation with USDA Forest Service. This app is designed to assist woodland owners with understanding their woods and the options for managing it, by providing basic information and connecting them with forest professionals who can assist. App development funded by a grant from the USDA Forest Service. NEFA complies with federal nondiscrimination policy and is an equal opportunity provider.
